Luxury outdoor living on a budget: Turn heads this outdoor season with Bunnings' expanded lifestyle range

Bunnings is unveiling its expanded outdoor living collection to help Kiwis style up their homes and entertain this Spring, with more than 100 new products landing in stores and online throughout October.

From BBQs to luxe homewares, the refreshed range is designed to conveniently transform gardens and patios into inviting spaces for families and friends to enjoy.

With a continued focus on delivering on-trend products at affordable prices, Bunnings has refreshed over 80 per cent of its outdoor living range over the past year, offering its customers fresh inspiration from Mimosa and collections such as Soller, Rhone and Bentota. The expanded range includes versatile furniture options, pizza ovens, barbecues and accessories.

Outdoor furniture is no longer an afterthought; it's part of a considered whole, bringing a sense of continuity, refinement, and comfort to the entire home environment.

Refined silhouettes, stone-look finishes and curated palettes create a seamless connection between inside and out as a reflection of a larger design movement where outdoor furniture now mirrors the sophistication of interior pieces.

“We know how much Kiwis love spending time outdoors, so we’re thrilled to offer an even wider selection of outdoor living products at prices everyone can enjoy,” said Victoria Anderson, Bunnings NZ Head of Trading

With cost-of-living pressures continuing to impact budgets, the new lifestyle range ensures Kiwis don’t have to break the bank to create an attractive and functional entertaining space.

“Our refreshed range is designed to elevate outdoor living, combining standout style with durable fabrics that don’t compromise on visual appeal.” says Anderson.

Whether it’s a relaxed Sunday barbecue, a lively pool party, or a cosy evening under the stars, customers can find all the latest essentials for outdoor living, this Spring, at Bunnings.
