Community & Sustainability Report

Together, we're building communities that are stronger, more connected and more resilient, and we can't wait to see what we achieve next.

MIKE SCHNEIDER, MANAGING DIRECTOR

WELCOME TO OUR 2026 BUNNINGS COMMUNITY REPORT

Community is in our DNA. From Cairns to Christchurch, our team members show up for the places they call home, cheering on local sport, backing local causes, and finding countless ways to give something back to the neighbourhoods where they live and work.

This spirit plays out in thousands of ways each year: community groups firing up sausage sizzles outside our stores, volunteers rolling up their sleeves, local partnerships taking root, and national campaigns rallying support right across Australia and New Zealand. With our customers, suppliers and community partners standing alongside us, the impact travels well beyond our car parks and into the communities that need it most.

This year, that impact added up to more than $72 million raised and contributed for communities across Australia and New Zealand. A huge part of that came from the more than 37,000 sausage sizzles held outside our stores throughout the year, a simple tradition that brings people together, strengthens local ties and gives community groups a genuine platform to raise funds for the causes they care about most.

We were also proud to back some outstanding national charity partners. In Australia, our customers helped raise $2.55 million for FightMND and packed an incredible 109,000 bags for Share the Dignity's It's in the Bag campaign. Across New Zealand, we kept backing the causes that build stronger communities, from grassroots sport to mental health awareness and programs helping young people learn and thrive.

None of this happens without the community groups and organisations who pour their time, energy and heart into their local areas, and we want to say a genuine thank you for everything you do. Thanks too to our team members, customers, suppliers and partners for everything you brought to the table this year. Together, we're building communities that are stronger, more connected and more resilient, and we can't wait to see what we achieve next.

Managing Director

Standing Together Against MND

For the eighth year, our team proudly supported FightMND's Big Freeze campaign, helping raise vital funds towards research and care initiatives for a world free from motor neurone disease. Through the sale of iconic Beanies, buckets and pet toys, alongside the incredible success of the national sausage sizzle and store fundraising events, team members and customers came together to make a meaningful difference. Thanks to the generosity of our communities, we raised and contributed an outstanding $2.55 million to support FightMND's mission.

Backing Grassroots Footy Legends

At Bunnings, we know the spirit of community footy extends far beyond the final siren. It's driven by the dedicated volunteers who show up week after week to support their local clubs. Back for a second year, our Legend of the Tongs initiative celebrates and recognises the local footy legends who roll up their sleeves to get behind the BBQ and bring communities together. Throughout the AFL season, we've been shining a spotlight on these unsung heroes, acknowledging their legendary contributions and the vital role they play in keeping grassroots football thriving.

Helping Deliver Dignity and Care

Bunnings once again proudly supported Share the Dignity's annual It's in the Bag campaign, helping provide essential items to women and girls experiencing homelessness, domestic violence and poverty. The campaign encourages Australians to donate bags filled with everyday necessities, offering practical support and dignity to those doing it tough. Thanks to the incredible generosity of communities across the country, more than 109,000 bags were collected through Bunnings stores, helping Share the Dignity continue the important work supporting women and girls in need.

NATIONAL

Paws for a Cause

For the third year, our 'Stores for Paws' campaign once again brought local animal welfare and rescue groups into our stores across Australia and New Zealand. Over the course of the weekend, participating groups collectively raised more than $270,000, while also helping lots of furry friends find loving homes through adoptions in stores.

This year, we also introduced our much-loved pet hoodies, which quickly became a customer favourite. More than just a fun accessory for pets, the limited-edition hoodies helped extend the impact of the campaign, with a portion of proceeds from every purchase donated to PetRescue in Australia and Pet Refuge in New Zealand.

Backing Mental Health in the Trade Community

Bunnings Trade teamed up with TIACS on a limited-edition Trade Hoodie, designed by TradeMutt, to get the trade community talking about mental health. Bringing together tradies, customers and communities, the hoodie gave people a simple way to show their support, with 100% of profits going to TIACS to fund free, professional counselling for tradies across Australia. Thanks to the incredible backing of the community, over $600,000 was raised and donated to TIACS to help ensure more tradies can access the support and conversations that make a real difference.

Promoting a Culture of Safety and Security

For the seventh consecutive year, Bunnings delivered Crime Prevention Week across sites in Australia and New Zealand, helping raise awareness of practical ways to prevent theft and fraud. The campaign encourages team, customers and communities to stay vigilant and take simple steps to keep workplaces, homes and vehicles safe and secure. Through educational resources, activities and conversations, Crime Prevention Week continues to play an important role in promoting a culture of safety and security.

Backing Mental Health Across New Zealand

For the fourth year running, Bunnings Trade in New Zealand partnered with Movember to raise awareness of mental health and suicide prevention programs available to Kiwis. Through the sale of a co-branded hoodie and a trade BBQ, our team rallied the community, with all funds going directly to Movember. Over $89,000 was raised and contributed through this initiative, helping support life changing services and spark important conversations across the country.

Community Legends: Celebrating Australia's Unsung Heroes

The Bunnings Community Legends Awards were created to recognise the everyday Australians who quietly make a meaningful difference in their communities. Through nominations from Bunnings team members and community partners, the program uncovered inspiring stories of volunteers, carers, mentors and local champions strengthening connection, inclusion, resilience and wellbeing across the country.

The awards celebrated a range of remarkable community contributors, including individuals supporting people experiencing hardship, championing disability inclusion, leading emergency service volunteering efforts and founding grassroots charities. Their stories highlight the powerful impact that dedicated local people can have in building stronger, more connected communities.

Supporting the shift to renewable energy

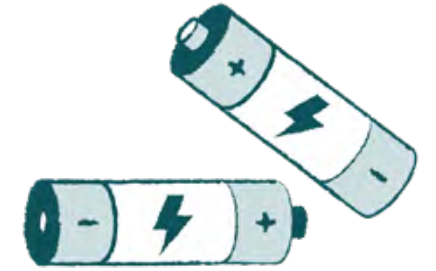

Bunnings is delivering simple and affordable renewable energy solutions to help more customers electrify their home through Zelora, a solar and battery subscription service developed in partnership with digital energy specialist Intellihub.

Available in select states across Australia, Zelora gives customers access to a fully installed solar and battery system through a simple monthly subscription, removing the large upfront costs often associated with renewable energy systems.

Takeback recycling programs

Customers continued to support our recycling and takeback programs, helping to keep valuable materials out of landfill.

Bunnings provides convenient drop-off points for household and power tool batteries and plastic plant pots across Australia and New Zealand, and e-waste across selected South Australian stores. With the support of our customers, more than 1,000 tonnes of ewaste and 600 tonnes of batteries, were collected for recycling during the year.

2026 Community & Sustainability Report

Towards more sustainable packaging

In partnership with our suppliers, we're continuing to reduce unnecessary packaging and improve recyclability across our product range. This year, we focussed on removing problematic packaging materials, increasing the use of recyclable packaging and removing excess soft plastic packaging.

To help customers recycle more easily at home, the Australasian Recycling Label (ARL) was applied to an additional 2,800 own-brand products this year.

Pallets with purpose

Bunnings is giving used timber pallets a second life through our pallet recycling program, now supported by more than 290 stores. Instead of going to waste, returned pallets are shredded and repurposed into garden mulch products sold in Bunnings stores.

Since the program began, more than 300,000 pallets have been recycled, helping reduce waste, recover useful materials and support customers with more sustainable choices for their gardens.

Community & Sustainability Report

Supporting responsible timber sourcing

Bunnings remains committed to sourcing timber and wood products from legal and well-managed forest operations. Through our Responsible Timber Sourcing Policy and recognised certification schemes such as FSC® and PEFC, we help provide customers with confidence that the timber products they purchase have been responsibly sourced.

During the year, Bunnings also joined FSC New Zealand on the ground, to see firsthand how responsible forest management supports healthy forests, biodiversity and long-term timber supply.

We continue to partner with suppliers to strengthen responsible sourcing practices, ensuring traceability of the timber and fibre used in our products.

Turning waste into opportunity

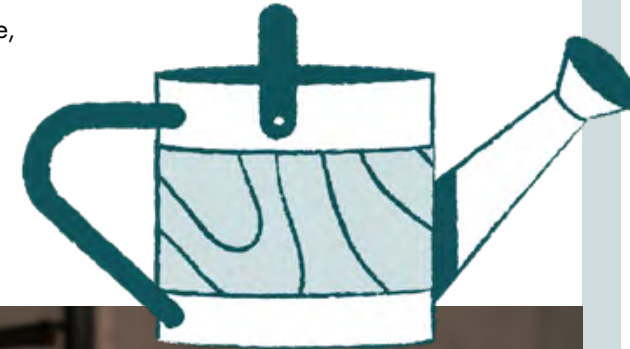

Teams from Springvale and Notting Hill worked together to build a new three-bin compost system, helping transform organic waste into a valuable resource for the community garden. The upgrade is already strengthening sustainability outcomes by improving soil health, reducing waste to landfill, and supporting a more circular, environmentally conscious community space.

Little Hands at the Little Food Festival

Over the April school holidays, Bunnings joined the Little Food Festival at Melbourne's Federation Square, where our team spent a couple of fantastic days connecting with more than 3,400 young gardeners.

Team helped kids plant their own food seedlings to take home, encouraging them to care for and harvest their own produce while building confidence in growing their own food.

Children chose from a range of seedlings including mixed lettuce, crunchy wombok and edible violas, and embraced the opportunity to get their hands dirty along the way.

2026 Community & Sustainability Report

Growing community connections

The Palmerston North team proudly supported City Mission by building a new community garden bed, helping create a welcoming outdoor space for the organisation and those it supports. Through hands-on volunteering and teamwork, the project enhanced the local environment while strengthening connections with the community. The garden bed will provide a lasting space for people to come together, connect and enjoy the outdoors.

Backing Motor Neurone Disease NZ

Each year, our teams across New Zealand come together for a national fundraising BBQ in support of Motor Neurone Disease New Zealand, helping raise awareness and vital funds for those affected by motor neurone disease. Through the generosity of our customers, team members and local communities, the campaign raised more than $40,000, contributing to important support services, advocacy and research. The initiative is a powerful example of how communities can come together to make a meaningful difference for a cause that impacts many New Zealand families.

NEW ZEALAND

Giving soft plastics a new life through building products

In New Zealand, Bunnings introduced saveBOARD 2Faced panels into 25 stores, helping turn soft plastic packaging into a practical building product.

Made from 100% post-consumer soft plastic collected through the NZ Soft Plastic Recycling Scheme, saveBOARD gives materials that may otherwise go to landfill a new purpose.

Each board contains around 12.5 kilograms of soft plastic, showing how everyday recycling can be turned into something useful for homes, projects and communities.

Working Together for Community Wellbeing

Local Bunnings team members partnered with Otakanini Haranui Marae to support a range of community projects designed to benefit the wider community. Together, they built new garden beds, a windbreak and a community pantry to help share the crops grown on site, while also maintaining an orchard established earlier in the year. The project strengthened community connections and provided an opportunity for team members to learn more about Māori culture while supporting the Marae's long-term wellbeing initiatives.

Helping Gardens Flourish

When Kimihia Home and Hospital reached out for support with their existing garden beds, the local Bunnings team supplied fresh soil and everything needed to establish a thriving vegetable and herb garden. Together, they planted a variety of seasonal produce that is now cared for by residents living with dementia, providing a meaningful gardening activity while supplying fresh ingredients for the facility's kitchen. Any surplus produce is shared with the local community, extending the project's impact beyond the home.
