SCHOCKCOLLECTION

SCHOCK was established in 1924 and took the world by storm with the creation of the first granite sink in 1979, which to this day continues to be manufactured in Germany. The quality German engineered sinkware has been created using state-of-the-art composite Nanogranite® materials.

It offers exceptional strength and durability, stain resistance and inert, antibacterial properties. The SCHOCK range includes 90 patents and over 200 sink models, in various colours and finishes. You can expect the material technology to be impact and stain resistant, heat resistant, food safe and also offer a dirt repellent effect. SCHOCK sinks are created to last and to leave the surface free of odour.

PIAZZA RANGE

Our Piazza Finishes are achieved using a process called "Physical Vapor Deposition" (PVD). There are three stages to this process.

Firstly, the stainless steel used to manufacture the sinks surface is shot-peened to create a harder and more durable surface that is both scratch resistant and impact-resistant.

Once this is completed, a Titanium Oxide Coating is deposited on the surface of the sink as a pure metal coating. This process transfers the titanium at a molecule level providing an extremely hardwearing coloured layer. Lastly, a nano-resin layer of hydrophobic active substance provides a long lasting, ultra-thin, durable and easy-to-clean surface.

ABEY 316 MARINE GRADE STAINLESS STEEL

An Alfresco area would not be complete without a Sink and Kitchen Mixer that can stand the elements. Abey has created a range of 316 Marine Grade Stainless Steel Sinks and Kitchen Mixers which are functional as well as inspirational.

Marine Grade Stainless Steel 316, due to the presence of molybdenum, is considerably more resistant to corrosive environments than the standard 304 stainless you will find in many indoor kitchen sinks and tapware. Marine Grade 316 is appropriate and suitable for sea water environments, coastal and marine applications. Because of its greater resistance to oxidation, it is the only choice for an alfresco area.
